Summary of "The Boy Who Harnessed the Wind" The Early Life of William Kamkwamba William Kamkwamba was born in 1987 in a small village called Wimbe in Malawi. Growing up in a humble farming family, William's early years were marked by the struggles common in rural Malawi—poverty, limited access to education, and recurring droughts that devastated crops and livelihoods. Despite these hardships, William was passionate about learning, especially about science and technology. His curiosity was fueled by a desire to improve the living conditions of his family and community. The Famine and Its Impact In 2002, Malawi faced a severe famine caused by drought and poor farming conditions. The famine forced many families to face starvation and economic decline. William's family, like many others, struggled to survive, and he was forced to drop out of school because his family could no longer afford the fees. During this period, William's interest in science intensified. He began exploring books and scraps of old electronics, trying to understand how things worked. His resourcefulness and determination to find solutions became more evident as he sought ways to help his community. The Inspiration to Build a Wind Turbine William's turning point came when he learned about wind turbines and their ability to generate electricity.
