Interpersonal Roles

The interpersonal roles revolve around managing relationships and representing the organization externally and internally. These roles are essential for building networks, motivating teams, and establishing organizational legitimacy.

1. Figurehead

As a figurehead, the manager embodies the organization's values and acts as a symbolic representative during ceremonial duties, meetings, and social functions. This role involves performing duties that are official and symbolic, such as signing documents, attending social events, or hosting visitors. Implications: Successful liaison roles require interpersonal skills, credibility, and the ability to navigate complex social environments.

Informational Roles

The informational roles involve collecting, processing, and disseminating information vital for organizational decision-making and strategic planning.

4. Monitor

Managers as monitors continuously scan their environment for information relevant to organizational operations.
