Jack's Monologue on Names and Identity

Context: Early in the play, Jack articulates his dual identity as "Ernest" in town and "Jack" in the country, revealing his elaborate deception. Excerpt Highlights: > "When one is in town one amuses oneself. When one is in the country one amuses other people. It is excessively boring." Analysis: This monologue encapsulates the central theme of social performance and identity. Jack's humorous reflection on the nature of entertainment underscores Wilde's critique of Victorian society's obsession with appearances. The monologue also humorously exposes the artificiality of social roles, setting the tone for the play's satire.

Algernon's Monologue on Food and Pleasure
